WILSON'S WORD THAT DRASTIC ACTION WAS NECESSARY IS NOW TAKEN IN GOOD FAITH

WILSON'S MESSAGE WILL NOT STOP WAR

Well Known Italian Statesman and Journalist Gives His Views.

ROME, JAN. 19.—Mr. Torre, deputy president of the Press Association, a well-known journalist and a Socialist, who will certainly be one of the cabinet in the near future, gave me an interview today. The principal subject discussed was President Wilson's peace aims.

"Mr. Wilson's message," said Mr. Torre, "from a general theoretic point of view is a magnificent document which will stir great enthusiasm among the people and especially among the people of Italy, even if its spirit of wide and revolutionary reform does not convince the men of the European governments. But we must discuss the details of President Wilson's speech to see whether it is really a decisive document from which peace may come.

"According to my idea the weakest point of the document is that which concerns the future of Austro-Hun-

Desertions In Germany Increasing

(International News Service)

THE HAGUE, JAN. 19.—Desertions from the German army into Holland are increasing and requent pitched battles are taking place on the border. News was received today that in a fight between German mutineers and loyal troops, one of the latter was killed and several others wounded. The mutineers were trying to make their way into Poland from Belgium.

JOHN MALONE REGISTERED

Chief of Police John Mapel received a telegram from the department of justice at Cleveland instructing him as to what steps to take in the matter of John Malone, of East Main street, alleged slacker arrested here Friday on instructions from that office.

The chief was instructed that the evidence against Malone was not sufficient to warrant his prosecution on a charge of evading the selective service law. It was further suggested by the department of justice that he be taken before the local draft board and properly registered and then released.

Malone was taken before the draft board and registered Saturday morning by Chief Mapel and was then allowed to go to his home.

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION ALSO NOTED IN CABINET

District Attorneys Instructed Everywhere to Watch for Violations — Fear of Labor Troubles Thru Loss of Wages Also Causes Grave Concern in Washington — Serious Charges to the Effect That Ry. Magnates are Responsible for Confusion and Breakdown are Freely Made in Washington.

WASHINGTON, JAN. 19.—Serious opposition to Dr. Garfield's shut down order had disappeared today. The country was bowing to the inevitable. Incidentally the very material modifications that were made in the original order, coupled with the assertion of President Wilson that it was necessary that the drastic action be taken, had resulted in the country accepting the situation with the best grace possible.

It has developed, however, that the order has resulted in somewhat severe differences of opinion in President Wilson's cabinet. Many members of the cabinet are opposed to the plan. They were not consulted in advance about the situation. It is a fact wellnigh certain that only President Wilson, Secretary of the Treasury and Railway Director McAdoo, Secretaries Baker and Daniels, Food Commissioner Hoover and Fuel Commissioner Garfield himself knew in advance what to expect.

The result has caused pointed, even if mild, criticism by the members of the cabinet who are in constant touch with the public. They rather resent the fact that they were not told what was coming off in time to have advised against certain portions of the order. But the feeling of displeasure is not likely to have any serious result so far as these cabinet members are concerned. They accept the view of President Wilson that the action will remedy a dangerous situation that, unattended to, might well have become most critical.

Will Watch Violators.

The attorney general has instructed all of his subordinates thruout the country to initiate prosecutions against any and all violators of the order. Those violating thru ignorance have opportunity to shut down their plants voluntary on warning from the local fuel administrators. Those who publicly announce thru newspapers that they intend to oppose the fuel administrator are to be prosecuted and extreme penalty of fine and imprison-

Garfield May Be Kicked Out As Fuel Admr.

WASHINGTON, JAN. 19—Dr. Harry A. Garfield, federal fuel administrator, may be legislated out of office. The senate committee investigating the coal shortage is today nearing the end of its investigation and has the duty of reporting to the senate such legislation as they believe can remedy the stringency and prevent future shortages.

Until the fuel administration order closing factories was promulgated the sentiment of the committee had not been to do away with the Garfield bureau. Strongly aroused by this order, however, the committee is now of the opinion that a "stronger and less scholastic hand" must rule the coal situation.

Members of the committee have conferred with other senators who are proposing to introduce legislation to provide for a war council. It is highly possible members declare that they will propose that the duty of the fuel administrator be turned over to a member of the proposed war council.

Another possible plan is to include the administration of coal within the duties of the proposed secretary of munitions.

Members of the coal investigating committee are thoroly convinced that there must be great centralization of

STREETS OF PETROGRAD BARRICADED

Opening of Constituent Assembly Is Marked By Much Bloodshed.

CITY FILLED WITH MARCHING TROOPS

Logionoff, Leader In Peasant's Congress, Among the First to Fall.

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

LONDON, JAN. 19.—The opening of the constituent assembly in Petrograd on Friday was marked by street fighting in which several persons were killed and many others were wounded, according to information received from Petrograd. It had been expected that disorders would take place in Petrograd when the assembly opened and martial law had been declared by the Bolsheviki government.

The alliance for the defense of the national assembly led in the street demonstrations and issued an appeal to the garrison and the crews of warships in the Neva to support their agitations.

The Bolsheviki soldiers erected barricades in the streets and many sailors were taken to Petrograd to reinforce them. Machine guns were placed in front of the Tauris Palace where the assembly met.

The Bolsheviki government issued a proclamation to the people to stay in doors and thus avoid danger, but it was disregarded and the streets swarmed with crowds.

The city was full of troops and there was a powerful under current of excitement heightened by the fact that

GORMAN GETS THIRTY DAYS FOR TECHNICAL VIOLATION OF RULES

COMMISSIONERS SAY OTHERS ALSO GUILTY

Refuse to Penalize Gorman to Fullest Extent When They Hold That the Charges Against Him Could be Filed Against All Other Subordinates.

Michael Gorman, Coshocton patrolman dismissed from the force by Safety-Service Director Sam Ashman, was given thirty days suspension, without pay, dating from the day of his suspension by Chief of Police John Mapel, December 31, 1917, by the civil service commission, Friday afternoon.

The decision was considerable of a surprise to many people of the city who were confident in their belief that Gorman would be dismissed and the decision of the safety director upheld.

The Finding In Full.

Following is the report of the civil service commission on the case with their findings and decision:

This matter comes before the Board on appeal from the finding of the Safety Director of the City of Coshocton, Ohio, dismissing Officer Gorman from the Police Force of the City.

In the complaint filed against him, Officer Gorman is charged with,

First—Being absent from duty without leave in writing on November fifth and sixth, 1917, and,

Second—Being actively engaged in politics on November fifth and sixth, 1917, contrary to the Statute.

Evidence was submitted by both sides and the fullest latitude allowed

DETECTIVES HAVE TAKEN LINDA JOSE

In Her Little Satchel Was Enough Dynamite To Blow Up the Burg.

CHICAGO, JAN. 19—Federal and city detectives today are combing Chicago for possible accomplices of a young woman giving her name as Linda Jose, who was arrested as she stepped from a train at the union station and a satchel containing enough dynamite to have blown the station to smithereens taken from her.

It is believed she was to deliver the dynamite to confederates here. The girl who is about 16 years old and pretty, is believed to have been affiliated with I. W. W. plotters who planned outrages here in retaliation for government prosecution of I. W. W. leaders. She admitted a familiarity with the works of Emma Goldman and other radicals.

Altho questioned for hours by agents of the department of justice the girl steadfastly refused to give definite information.

Miss Jose, who at times called herself Linda, Laura and Nellie, is confined in the jail at Waukegan in default of $20,000 bail. Several indicted I. W. W.'s also are in the Waukegan jail. When told she would be taken there, the girl remarked:

"I'll be with my friends."

Miss Jose is said to have admitted she knew the power of the "death satchel" she carried, but would give no explanation of her purpose in bringing it to Chicago. She said an "uncle" gave it to her and that she was taking it to another "uncle." Her home, is in Youngstown, Ohio, and detectives there and at Steubenville, O., have been asked to aid the police in tracing her history and identity.

CHICAGO, JAN. 19—William Hale Thompson, mayor of Chicago, today made formal announcement of his candidacy for the U. S. senate.

INFORMATION FOR GERMAN ALIENS IN U.S.

Coming Registration Causes Much Inquiry Over Coshocton County.

The registration of all German aliens to take place between Monday, February 4, and Saturday, February 9 is arousing much discussion among the citizens of the county, many of whom are of German descent. Especially is this true of the Northeastern portions of the county. For the benefit of those who are undecided as to whether they will have to register or not, The Tribune, in compliance with the request of the government, is running a series of articles from day to day containing sections of the law and telling exactly who will have to register and who will not. Today's article follows:

A male child born in a country against which war has been declared of a father who was at the time of said child's birth a native, citizen, denizen or subject, of such hostile nation or government, is not an alien enemy if his father was naturalized as an American citizen while said child

Lieut. Lynde will be dismissed from the hospital Monday. An abscess has developed in one ear, and he will come home for treatment from a local physician.

DEDUCTIONS THAT MAY BE TAKEN FROM ANY INCOME

Gov't. Agt. At Auditor's Office Welcomes Inquiry From Taxpayers.

In explaining the new income tax law, J. A. Bernens, government agent sent to this county to assist the taxpayers to a better understanding of the law, tells what a man can deduct from his gross income i. e., the amount that he doesn't have to pay tax on.

(1) Necessary expenses actually paid in carrying on any business. You cannot deduct living of family expenses.

Gifts to dependent relatives cannot be deducted nor any other gifts except the following:

Gifts to corporations or associations operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific or educational purposes, no part of the net income of which insures to the benefit of any private stockholder or individual, to an amount not in excess of 15 percent of the taxpayer's taxable net income as computed before deducting such gifts. This would include Red Cross divi-

WILL SUE ON CONFLICTING COAL CLAIMS

John W. Cassingham filed suit in Probate court late Friday afternoon against Charles Stiner Jr., and Chas. Saxton for the recovery of three hundred dollars value of coal which Stiner and Saxton mined from his land without permission.

Stiner owns an adjacent piece of property and the same vein of coal which underlies his property also underlies that of Cassingham's. In mining the coal Stiner crossed the boundary between the two tracts of land and has been taking coal from the vein underlying the land of Cassingham, says the petition. The plaintiff asks that a temporary injunction be given him restraining Stiner from mining more of the coal and asks that the court make this injunction permanent when the case comes up for final hearing. He also asks such other relief as the court sees proper to give him, estimating the amount of the coal mined at two hundred and fifty tons and the money valuation at $300.

"RINGED WITH FOES"

Says a man who knows Germany: "This education of the German people that we are aiming at is all very well. But it will take a very long time to persuade them that the rest of the world is not bent on their destruction.

"Just consider this fact. Every German school child, for decades, has had drilled into him a lesson that goes like this:

"'What is Germany?' the child is asked. And then comes the invariable answer, that has sounded in German schoolhouses billions of times:

"'Germany is the Fatherland, ringed about with foes.'

"Every German now fighting, we might almost say every German now living, has had that drilled into him. We are dealing with a whole generation of Germans who have grown up in the implicit belief that every alien neighbor is their natural enemy, filled with ill-will and hatred and bent on Germany's destruction. It is this training that has given to the German race what psychologists sometimes call the 'mania of persecution'—the notion that every man's hand is against it.

"How are we going to get that delusion out of the German head?"

It is certainly a Herculean task. Yet we must drive out the delusion before there can be peace in the world, or else give apparent proof of the delusion's reality by crushing Germany into helplessness.

Never in history has there been so glaring an example of the power of education for good or evil. It is primarily this pernicious doctrine, so carefully inculcated, that has made the German people a pliant tool in the hands of the master criminals who launched the world-war, and that keeps the tool still serviceable.

If the Germans had only been taught the truth! If little Hans and Gretchen and the rest, year after year, million after million, had been taught that other nations were made up of people pretty much like themselves, rather well-meaning, honest and fair; if they had been taught that there is naturally in men and women of all civilized races more good than evil, more generosity than selfishness, more kindness than cruelty; if they had learned that the human race on the whole is a pretty decent and humane race;—then there would have been no war.

Let us not fail to profit in full measure from Germany's tragic error. Let us be sure our children learn that we ourselves have no natural or inevitable enemies. Let us teach them the great truth that what makes the world go round, and moves men and nations and civilizations forward, is not armed force or clever scheming, but simply the good will that exists in man.

BREAD IN FRANCE

The French bread ration has been cut to seven ounces a day. Men and women doing the hardest kind of physical work are allowed a little more, but the majority, including the rich, are restricted to the seven ounces.

That is a little less than half as much as is contained in one of our small loaves. Anybody who thinks it is plenty for three meals should take careful note of the amount of bread consumed in his own family, and then consider that bread with the French today is not a small detail, as with most of us, but the chief article of diet. And it isn't our good, palatable and wholly nutritious white bread, either, but a war bread made by adding various coarse and cheap ingredients to make the wheat go further.

With this French ration in mind, how can any American family continue to waste good bread? If we keep on throwing away crusts and stale slices, or consuming bread lavishly instead of other foodstuffs of which we have plenty, the French people will soon be cut to less than seven ounces

If next winter should be one of those "open winters" in which it rains, hails, sleets, thaws, and freezes and the wind shifts to all four quarters twice every 24 hours, we will all be longing for a "good, old-fashioned winter" like we had last year But then what's the use in having weather if we can't kick about it

New York Day-By-Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, JAN 19.—A man who know. Broadway and its theatres has commented on the passing of the old time comedian of the musical comedies. The comedic talent used to rest chiefly in a large putty nose illuminated periodically by a small red electric bulb or there were green whiskers, knotty legs or flapping ears.

An audience will not laugh any more when a comedian walks out upon the stage wearing a wicker waste basket for a hat and with one shoe six sizes larger than the other. That glad epoch is but a memory.

When Pete Daley used to stroke his fur overcoat in "A Straight Tip" a stage hand in the wings emitted cat mews and the audience went wild but now it would be bored. Arthur Dunn, Francis Wilson, Frank Daniels, De-Wolf Hopper, Jimmie Powers, Frank Moulan, Johnny Ray and Charlie Bigelow belonged to that old school, but those who have survived changed their tactics.

Jimmie Powers used to convince his audience by pretending he couldn't move his right leg from a certain spot and giving his knee extravagant wiggles in "The Messenger Boy" but it would provoke no more mirth now than the old grand inaugural entrance of the comedian effected by swinging a balloon across the backdrop with the comedian himself dangling therefrom—the seat of his trousers caught by the anchor.

The newer school of harlequin must make the audience laugh without the aid of a cow bell in the hands of a trap drummer, without the help of such elaborate scenic stratagems as were vouchsafed in the early days. In the stead of such erstwhile guffaw brewers, the comedian of the present day, the comedians like Jolson, or Hitchcock or Fred Stone must substitute a genuine sense of comic values and not a little acting ability.

The comedian of today relies largely on the lines the librettist provides for him and employs a real histrionic skill and a practised voice inflection to point them, to invest them with comic air, to draw out of them the last possible ounce of chuckle juice they contain. Most people welcome the new school comedian

A group of curb brokers at luncheon the other day made up a collection of $500 in five minutes to buy coal for the New York American's poor fund. The incident shows the new lease of life in the Money Belt. Pessimism has fled. Wall and Broad streets are teeming with optimists

The U. S. control of the railroads had much to do with it along with the indications that the Central Powers are about to perform a right about face. Peace stocks—that is the oils, metal mining issues, motors, rails and steel equipments—are bubbling.

The Industrial and Mining Age sums it up as follows: "Wall Street always discounts the future and Wall Street has already begun to register in the stock-market the conviction that peace is years nearer than it was months ago."

It was a bright idea on the part of one of the great cinema directors. He engaged Irene Castle—monkey and all—and then got David Belasco—he of the Corinthian curves—to direct her in a screen play After this they employed a shrewd press agent and Mr. Belasco issued an order that hereafter the nimble footed Irene must go thru her rehearsals without her South American monkey, a creature which has already become a familiar figure to New York's many midnight frequenters of the great white esplanade Seen around the town: A Belgian opera singer working as a tube conductor. Mayor Hylan laughing at a newspaperman's quip on the steps of City Hall. A celebrated sculptor helping boys model a snow man in Central Park. A department store sign reading: "Patriots will carry their bundles home." A woman carrying a basket of coal in a limousine.

HIGH-POWERED AUTO IS TO BE DISCARDED

PARIS, JAN. 19—There will be a radical change this year in the type of automobiles and the character of the accessories made in America and shipped for service in France. It will chiefly affect the horsepower and weight, as well as the size of the tires It will eliminate self-starters and electric lighting At least this is the opinion of a majority of the practical automobile men who are officers in the motor transport section of the Quartermaster Department who have had an opportunity to study the subject while in active service.

"The reason why the high-powered car from home will disappear from the army in France," said one of these officers today, "is chiefly because it is not economical While the French are shouting praises in our ears we are ridiculing their automobiles They admired our quick getaway and high speed, and we could not see how it was possible to take a ten-horse power automobile seriously. Since then we have come to believe that fifteen is as much horsepower as anybody wants for a touring car or ambulance in France. This is because the French cars are built to run at the maximum speed all day without overstrain or unusual wear, provided that with four speeds ahead they change gears instead of carrying around a great reserve of power The difference is the same as that between economy and waste.

"We have some cars running on the poor gasoline that do not make more than a mile or ten miles to the gallon, while the average French ten to fifteen horsepower automobile makes from forty to forty miles on a gallon They are using tires half the size of those on our big cars, which are constantly in trouble on account of the speed it is possible to make.

"When a road is clear and straight even a ten-horsepower French car plugs along all day at an average of thirty miles an hour without changing a tube. There is no question that American manufacturers are able to produce quantities of cars approximating the ideal for service here, so we do not believe it will be long before we begin to see them."

Some of the officers who were in the automobile business at home are inclined to believe that the experience here combined with gasoline shortage and the increased price of tires will lead to a demand for the production of lower powered automobiles of the highest grade in the United States just as in Europe It is evident that electric starting and lighting and other modern devices, which are very agreeable to private owners in America, will not much longer be found on cars arriving here for war service from the fact that after those conveniences once fail to work properly they are seldom put in working order again.

Armies longer in the war than ours long ago found that oil and carbide were the best lighting system for army cars, while any driver who could not crank his own motor or pump tires was better off in the trenches, where the soldiers are supposed to have nothing to do but smoke cigarettes and watch the car. The prediction is made that in the near future automobile manufacturers selling to the army will spend the money formerly devoted to luxuries upon workmanship and materials, so that every car built to run twelve hours a day over the roads at its maximum or minimum speed will still be a good car after long service.

PORK PRODUCTION PROPAGANDA

A campaign for increasing the production of pork in Ohio 15 percent in cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture is well started The campaign is being directed along the following lines:

1 To encourage the breeding of as many gilts as possible, even if the pigs are going to be farrowed as late as the middle of June.

2 Try to encourage farmers and feeders of the country to fatten hogs to heavier weights.

3 Secure feeder hogs from districts short of corn and transfer them to districts more plentifully supplied, especially, soft corn.

The following emergency livestock demonstrators are assisting in the work: Francis L. Allen, Van Wert; Charles B. Shough, London; Joseph B. Markey, Eaton; John Chisholm, Mansfield; Charles V. Truay, Sycamore; William A. Martin, Kenton; Herbert B Marshall, Beaverdam; Walter Cory, Frankfort; G. E. Jobe, Cedarville; Harvey S. Baker, Wooster; Walter D. Hunnicutt, Wilmington; Dr. Henry M. VROOMAN TO SPEAK

Carl Vrooman, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, of Washington, D. C., is to be one of the headliners of the Sixth Annual Farmers' Week to be held at the Ohio State University from January 28 to February 1. Mr. Vrooman has extensive farming interests in Illinois.

TO TACKLE LABOR PROBLEMS

The solving of labor problems and the use of farm tractors will be given careful consideration during Farmers' Week at the Ohio State University, Columbus, from January 28 to February 1. A series of five lectures on tractors will be given by Professor G. W. McCuen of the Department of Agricultural Engineering of the College of Agriculture. The subjects of his lectures are: "Shall I Buy a Tractor," "Types of Tractors," "Fuels and Ignition Systems of Tractors," "Operation of a Tractor," and "Tractor Plows and Hitches."

In addition to the lectures, the laboratories of the department will be thrown open to the inspection of visitors, and tractors will be on hand to furnish illustrations for the lectures.

TESTING SHOWS WORTH OF COWS

A comparison of the average of the five highest and the five lowest producing cows of Hamilton County Cow Testing Association No. 1 shows that one of the highest producing cows is worth about one hundred times as much as one of the lowest producing cows from the viewpoint of profit. The averages of the five highest are: milk, 9,331 pounds; fat, 4,65.1 pounds; feed cost, $71.98, and profit, $115.80. The five lowest are: milk, 2,694 pounds; fat, 107 8 pounds; feed cost, $36.97; and profit, $1.43.

During the year, 85 cows were sold and three died. Of these sold, the majority were unprofitable. Some were sold to make room for purebred cows.

DEMONSTRATION WORK POPULAR

With the recent establishment of county agricultural agent work in Licking and Lawrence Counties, there are now 27 counties in Ohio employing these agents. In several counties, the work has grown to such an extent that assistant agents have been appointed.

In accordance with food legislation passed by Congress, a number of counties now have women city and county home demonstration agents. The counties having these women agents are: Highland, Columbiana, Summit, Lake and Cuyahoga. City home demonstration agents are now situated in Akron, Chillicothe, Cincinnati, Toledo and Youngstown.

MILK PRICES

Of all the topics that are bound to come up during Farmers' Week, there is one that is certain to have a place of importance at the dairymen's sessions. That will be the price of milk. The efficiency of feeds will be studied, cost of production will be discussed and means of amicably solving the present milk problems will be given the most earnest consideration.

A number of dairymen's associations, milk producers' associations, creamery managers' associations, and breed associations will be represented at the meeting.

TREATING OATS FOR SMUT PAID

Three oats smut demonstrations conducted near Bethel in Celrmont County on 50 acres last summer resulted in an average increase of three bushels of oats at a profit of $1.80 per acre. Seven smutted heads were found in a single row 65 rods long in a field of Mr. Wilson, and in an adjoining field which had not been treated, a dozen heads were found in a space of 8 feet. At least $4,000 worth of oats were saved in eGauga County by similar treatment

BUY SPRAY MATERIAL EARLY

Considerable difficulty is being experienced by manufacturers of spray materials for the use of farmers. On account of traffic congestion, it is not only hard to get materials, but also difficult to distribute them. On account of this situation, many farmers are finding it a prudent practice to buy their spray materials at once. They are also buying their supply of seeds, as there promises to be an unusual shortage of high-grade supplies of this sort.

PEOPLE'S FORUM

Editor The Tribune and Times-Age:

Will you please print the following suggestions:

WARSAW, OHIO, Jan. 19, 1918.

To the Teachers of Coshocton County:

We would be pleased to see a Red Cross emblem displayed in the window of every rural and village school room in Coshocton County.

The Red Cross is an emblem which signifies helpfulness, mercy, kindness as well as patriotism, education and democracy. These are the qualities that should be inculcated in the lives of our pupils.

Every teacher should become a member of the Red Cross and secure membership for her pupils and thus give to each pupil the pleasure that comes from the participation in a noble and patriotic enterprise. We hope to see said emblem displayed in every school room on or before February 1, 1918.

Very truly yours,
L. C. SHAW, Co. Supt.

SWINE SICKNESS

Editor The Tribune:

Dear Sir: If you will please give the following article space in your paper it will prove of much economic value.

During the past six months I have been called to treat many cases of a peculiar sickness among hogs. The first symptom noticed is a wheezing and difficult breathing; they gradually grow worse, until the owner concludes they are choked—the hog, or pig, (all sizes and ages are affected alike) acting as if there were some foreign substance in the throat. The appetite remains unimpaired, and the animal will rush up to the trough when feed is being poured into it, and attempt to eat; but after swallowing one or two mouthfuls, it will stagger backward away from the trough, and in some instances will fall over and struggle as if dying. But after a little time, gets up and goes back to the trough again and tries to eat, but only to repeat the same failure as before. If left go with out proper treatment they almost invariably die from starvation.

The treatment is simple. The cause of the trouble is worms in the intestines and stomach, crawling up into the throat. I have found as many as 700 or more of these small worms in a pig of 40 or 50 pounds weight.

The following treatment will cure every case if used before the animal is too far gone. Give a physic composed of the following: Powdered aloes two ounces, carbonate of potash one ounce, cold water one pint; mix all together, shake well, and give from one fourth to one ounce at a dose, according to the size of the pig, or hog.

Repeat the dose two or three times until the animal is physical well. At the same time give one tablespoonful of turpentine mixed with four ounces of castor oil, to a hog of 250 pounds weight, less in proportion to size.

My reasons for writing this, is that in 25 years experience I have never met with this peculiar trouble before, and have been unable to find it recorded by any of the authors of text books on veterinary medicine, and a number of persons have come to me to make inquiry about this malady, saying they had lost hogs with it, and did not know what ailed them; and as I was in possession of the knowledge of the trouble and the remedy for it, I feel it my duty to make it public.

I will gladly answer all inquiry either by phone or letter absolutely free of any change, if you will enclose postage for reply.

EAT WHAT YOU WANT WHEN YOU WANT IT

People who consistently deny their appetite some particular dish appealing especially to their palate, because indulgence has always meant subsequent suffering, will think this a strong statement. It is a fact, however, that most people can, without fear of distressing consequences, indulge the appetite within reason if the bowels are active and regular.

Heavy dinners and late suppers can be enjoyed with impunity if, before retiring, one will take a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a mild combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that druggists sell for fifty cents a bottle. Gentle in action and positive in effect, it regulates the bowels in an easy, natural way, without griping or other discomfort, and is the ideal family laxative. Get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from your druggist and keep it in the house. Use it occasionally and you will find you can eat almost anything you like without fear of consequences. A trial bottle can be obtained free of charge by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 456 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

JEWS TO SOON START PLAN OF BUILDING NEW NATION AT PALESTINE

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, JAN. 19.—Within a month the first activity toward gathering Jews of the world as a nation at Palestine will be started, according to prominent Jews of Chicago, who started the movement for the return to Palestine of Jews from all corners of the globe shortly after the occupation of the Holy City by the British army.

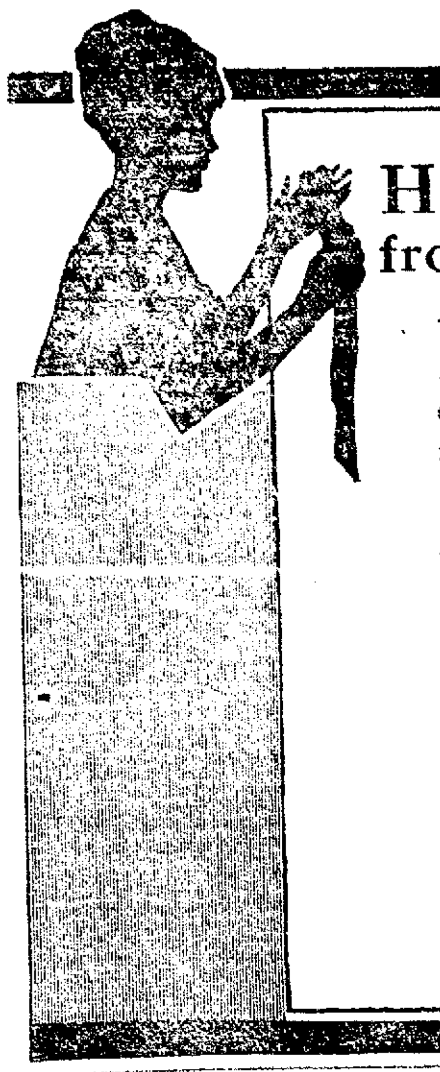

Within a short time the English-American Commission of twenty, among whom are Max Shulman and former Judge Julian Mack, of this city, will make a pilgrimage to Zion, where they will confer with other commissions from Russia, England and France.

Later, when the real peace conference takes place, these commissions will meet and report on the reception of those who wish to return, by the country.

This will mark the beginning of the promised return to Zion, the result of a movement fostered by the Federated Zionist societies at the recent convention here.

Reports from various parts of the country show that the fund of $1,000,000 to finance the restoration of the Jewish State in Palestine is fast reaching the goal.

How to get more wear from fine waists and lingerie

IN these days of war prices, it's a necessary, yet simple, economy to make dainty fabrics wear longer. You couldn't replace your fine clothes today at anything like the prices you've paid for them.

All clothes—and especially fine fabrics—wear much longer when washed with Fels-Naptha. Because Fels-Naptha makes unnecessary the use of boiling water—so destructive to delicate fabrics.

More, it almost entirely does away with the rubbing that does more to wear out clothes than actual wear on the street.

QUIT MEAT IF YOUR BACK HURTS, FLUSH YOUR KIDNEYS WITH SALTS

Meat forms uric acid, which clogs Kidneys, irritates Bladder or causes Rheumatism.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatism twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "loggy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. 10c and 25c a box. All druggists.

Letters From The Boys

Serg. Rudolph Kamphausen, Co. E, 405th telegraph battalion, Camp Lewis, Washington, and son of Rev. and Mrs. H. Kamphausen, of this city tells of his first experience in the trenches in a letter recently published in a Zanesville paper. Serg. Kamphausen formerly lived in Zanesville, and was one of the "wireless" boys who built the station in Pioneer park, that city, several years ago.

Serg. Kamphausen enlisted while a student at the University of Cincinnati and employed by the Cincinnati Telephone Co.

A part of the letter follows:

"Today we lost our captain, who has been made a major and transferred to another battalion. He made a farewell speech and later shook hands with every man in the company. I have never seen a man make an impression like he did in less than three months. There were actually not ten men, who, as they shook hands, did not have tears in their eyes, and many were actually crying. Even the 'old heads' who had seen much of the world were just like the younger ones. We gave him a remembrance of $80, raised among 100 men, with which to buy a field glass and two army trunks.

"Had my first experience in the trenches today. The division signal officer asked our battalion for some men to maintain the phone system in the trenches at the rifle range, so I was ordered to take four men up and do it. I had never seen a rifle range, but soon found out what had to be done. The targets are raised out of a long trench, and are numbered. The infantrymen fire from trenches at 100, 200 and 300 yards, and there is a telephone line connecting every ten targets with an observer for every ten men on the firing line. My work kept me in and around the trenches and target pits most of the time.

"Charlie may have told you I am now a sergeant, at $44 per month, with 'board and room.' Give my regards to all old friends."

A letter from Walter Boyd to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Boyd, of Coshocton Route 1, has been received here. Boyd is now stationed at the League Island navy yard at Philadelphia, Penn.

Following is the letter:

Dear Folks, All:

I am starting the New Year right you see. I have been waiting for a letter from you for almost two weeks now, but there is none in sight yet. I haven't received a single letter from you since my last jump. We have a very poor mail system here in this camp so I presume that they have gone astray. However I received the box of candy and nuts and Gee! but they were good. One has lots of friends here when he has a box of home made candy and they each have to have a sample so your box was finished quick. The boys all said that it was the best one yet. Oh no! they didn't rob me, for I always have my sample when they get their boxes.

I forget when I wrote to you last and what all I told you. It was before Christmas tho, I think. I worked all day Xmas until five o'clock P. M. We had a fine dinner here in camp. In fact, I think it a sin to have as much as we had, but if so, I made an awful good sinner. In the afternoon we fed about fifteen hundred orphans and gave them Xmas boxes. The marines went out with their trucks and gathered them up to bring to camp. It was sure some fun to watch the hungry little fellows. The expenses were paid by a collection taken up among the boys.

Xmas morning there was a gentleman came to the yard gates and said that he would like to go in to invite three or four boys out to dinner that night. I told him he needn't look any further that I was one and that there were three more just inside. We went that evening and had a fine supper and a very good time. The Philadelphia people certainly treat us fine. Take us right to their homes and make us one of them. I am invited out this afternoon and evening somewhere. The members of some church sent an invitation for thirty and I am one of the thirty.

They give us so many invitations that I had to miss the big New Year's celebration last night in order to get some sleep. Isn't this war awful? I am still on the escort job and don't care if they leave me. We have quite a little excitement here. Meet all kinds of people and on all kinds of errands. I arrested an I. W. W. agitator here the other day. He was a German sympathizer who talked too much.

I have moved to another barracks again. Am in 237 now so address me there. Well I must close and get ready for our party. Write me soon,

With love to all,
Walter Boyd,

Billy Miske's Stock Is Up, Fulton's Down

ST. PAUL, MINN., JAN. 19.—Fred Fulton's stock as a heavy weight challenger is down below the zero mark today, while Billy Miske's prestige as a two fisted scrapper is shooting up to fever heat as a result of the ten-round battle here last night. A majority of the ringside's guests agree that Miske held Fulton throut the fight.

Failure of Fulton to send Miske, who was nearly 40 pounds lighter send him to the mat or even make even exchange of punches was a disappointment to the backers of the big plasterer.

Fulton failed to damage Miske, who had perfect an air tight defense against it.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

Grandma kept her locks dark, glossy and youthful with a simple mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, tho, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this thru your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Burns, Cuts, Bruises

San Cura Ointment Relieves Pain, Draws Out Poison and Heals Promptly.

There is no better remedy for burns, cuts and bruises than the antiseptic and healing ointment called San Cura.

Every person ought to have a jar on hand: It is the first and best aid to the injured in case of accident, and is the ideal remedy for so many other distressing and painful ailments besides.

For example it is guaranteed by Page & Lorenz to relieve itching, bleeding and protruding piles, eczema, tetter, ulcers, salt rheum, boils, carbuncles and pimples, or money back.

In case of old running sores, no matter how long standing, a few poultices of San Cura Ointment will draw out the poison, and leave them in such a thoroly aseptic condition that they will heal promptly.

We advise every reader to get a jar of San Cura Ointment today, and keep it ready for an accident or emergency that may happen. 30 cents and 60 cents at Page & Lorenz on the money-back plan.

SOAP FOR THE SCALP.

San Cura Soap is delightful for shampooing, because it is full of antiseptic properties that banish the germs of dandruff and other impurities from the scalp. It removes pimples and blackheads, too. 25 cents a cake at Page & Lorenz.

"Hello, Joe," Said German

FRANCE, Saturday, JAN. 19.—An FRANCE, TUESDAY, JAN. 18.—An American army officer walking along one of the roads today came upon a party of green-coated German prisoners cleaning out ditches so that the water could flow freely. He had passed halfway thru the group when one of the Germans stopped his work suddenly and called out:

"Hello, Joe, what are you doing over here?"

The officer walked up to the man and found he was a youth he had known in Boston before the war.

"Joe," the German went on, "this is funny, isn't it? The last time I [illegible] you was in Beacon street. I [illegible] back to Germany to visit an a[illegible] before the war began. STOMACH TORN UP

Indiana Lady Describes Condition, Which She Says Was Due To Constipation and Tells of Relief Obtained From Black-Draught.

Scottsburg, Ind.—Mrs. Annie Johnson, of this place, writes: "I well remember I suffered for a long time with constipation, which would get me down. I took doctors' medicines and any number of purgatives. They would leave me in a worse condition than I was before taking, and my stomach so upset . . . I know once I suffered . . . from constipation, I was so ill we had to have the doctor, just so nervous and feverish. The doctor said I would have to quit medicines, my stomach was so bad . . .

My husband was reading and found something about Thedford's Black-Draught and brought me a package to try. I used it regularly at first until I began to feel better, then I used just a dose occasionally. I was cured of this constipation and am sure the Black-Draught did it."

If your stomach is out of order, you will suffer from such disagreeable symptoms as headache, biliousness, indigestion, etc., and unless something is done, serious trouble may result.

Thedford's Black-Draught has been found a valuable remedy for these troubles. It is purely vegetable, and acts in a prompt and natural way, helping to regulate the liver and to cleanse the bowels of impurities.

Try Black-Draught. EB-15

gary. It would be difficult to reconcile the idea of the continued existence of Austria-Hungary, dominated by the Hapsburgs as it is, with the democratic developments of the nationalities which compose it. Some of these nationalties, like the Czech-Slovacs, desire their independence They have all the qualities necessary to possess that independence and put an end to their existence, which is that of an inferior people subject to the domination of the Germans and Magyars. If Bohemia with the Slovacs shall constitute an independent state it will be the end of Austria-Hungary.

Same Turkish Conclusion.

"The same conclusion may be drawn concerning the Turkish empire, where a small Turkish minority less developed dominates peoples who are beginning to be moved by the spirit of independence.

"President Wilson, whose message has as its motive the principle of the rights of nationalities, must take into consideration the political considerations which exist in central and eastern Europe.

"Italian opinion judges the declarations of President Wilson as little concerning Italian aspirations.

The Italian problem is not one of sentiment which will be solved when a few hundred thousand Italian subjects of Austria shall be reunited to the mother country. It is a problem of which the solution should give to Italy the security necessary for its existence. The problem of the Adriatic cannot be overlooked even if you take no account of the historic and cultural rights which Venice summed up in the words, "Mare Nostrum" (our sea). In the present war the superiority of our combined fleets have been incapable of depriving Austria-Hungary of its control of the Adriatic on account of the natural harbors and bays along the coast of Dalmatia, which, of course, give magnificent control and observation and protection for its fleet.

Won't Bring Peace.

"I do not believe that Mr. Wilson's message will bring peace. Germany will not accept the conditions demanded of her, that is to say, the restoration of Poland with access to the sea and the free existence of peoples subject to the Ottoman empire, whose existence is necessary to Germany for the triumph of her Pan-Germanist program The liberation of Alsace and Lorraine, justly demanded by Mr. Wilson, is perhaps an even greater obstacle when you consider that Lorraine especially plays a great part in the industrial life of Germany. Consequently only the decisive defeat of Germany could make the noble principle of President Wilson's speech triumphant.

"If the war is to continue, as I believe it will, I think the Central Powers will start a double series of military actions in Italy and the Balkans with the aim of definitely crushing Italy and driving the Italians out of Albania. This view is founded on the logical methods which have always directed the German war plans. The conviction that Italy is the weakest point in the Eentente will push Germans to a desperate effort to eliminate Italy completely from the struggle.

"Unhapply I think the Allies are not prepared to establish a program of united action in military, political and diplomatic matters, which has always been needed but which is today indispensable if we are going to win the war."

Every One To Blame.

"Whose fault is it if this program has not been accepted?" I asked.

"It is a little of everybody's fault," he replied, "but I cannot deny that great mistakes have been made by my own country. Allow me not to dwell on this point, which, is so painful in our national politics."

I asked Mr. Torre what influence the Germanophile element still had in Italy and he answered:

"The pro-German people can no longer exercise influence over the nation. Under present conditions public opinion is against them, and in making this statement I am sure of interpreting the feeling of my country correctly. As deputy president of the press association and in my public lifel am in a position to know the feeling of the men who interpret public opinion."

by the Board to both and the case was ably presented by counsel.

The Board after careful consideration of all the evidence and hearing the arguments by counsel, find;

That said Officer is guilty of a technical violation of the law on both of the charges presented, but we also find that said Officer Gorman is only guilty of what has become an habitual act on the part of Subordinate Officers in department of the City's Government; that it has been in the past a custom for Subordinates in said departments to disregard these Statutory regulations, thus being frequently absent from duty without written permission being granted therefore, and of taking a more or less active part in politics, local and general and up to the present case such conduct has been ignored by the Officers in charge of these departments; that to apply the fullest penalty of the law to this particular case without regard to the former flagrant practices by Subordinates with the apparent approval at least of their Superiors would be a harsh and unjustifiable administration of the law, that if those in Superior authority expect their Subordinates to respect and obey the Statutes and Rules governing their conduct, they should show proper respect for the laws and rules themselves by seeing that their Subordinates habitually observe instead of habitually ignore them.

In view of the fact that the conduct charged in this case is but an act which has been frequently done by others, situated as was this Officer, and in the hope that other Subordinate Officers may take warning and that Superior Officers in the Departments will in the future see that it shall become the habit and custom of their Subordinates to obey the law rather than to disregard or ignore it, it is the order of the Board that said Officer Gorman stand censored for his misconduct and that he be suspended from duty without pay for a period of thirty days beginning with the date of his suspension by the Safety Director, to wit: December 31, 1917.

Who Would Like To Make Faces At The "Lion?"

CHICAGO, JAN. 19.—These huge hulking officers have got to quit picking on gentle Jessiac Willard, known principally because he wears the title of heavyweight champion of the world. Jess has been made defendant in a suit for $25,000 filed by Tex O'Dowd who alleges Steve Savage, a wrestler employed by the big Kansan, tossed him a round, including a few circus stunts last summer and cracked several ribs. When it came to service on Jess in connection with the suit, however, the champion showed marked elusiveness. Finally Chas. W. Peters, chief deputy sheriff, approached Willard's home and was positve he saw Jess lurking behind a window.

"Mr. Willard is in Texas," was the information given Peters when he rapped on the door. Peters was doubtful and stuck around.

Suddenly glancing down the street Peters saw Willard heading in the general direction of Texas and travelling as tho he was in a hurry to get there. Counting on head work to circumvent Jess' speedy foot work, Peters called Deputy Sheriff O'Donnell to his aid and between the two they located the cowboy champion in the Sheridan inn. O'Donnell served the summons.

"I wouldn't have ducked out," said Big Jess, "but that first deputy tried to bulldoze me. The second fellow was a gentleman, so I let him serve me."

O'Donnell denied he tried to heckle the champion

"Who," he asked, "wants to make faces at a lion?"

Will Germany Yield To America's Peace Aims?

"The key to the Temple of World Peace is in the hand of President Wilson," said Maximilian Harden recently to an American correspondent in Germany and many people throughout the world think that the key was fitted in the lock when the President restated America's war aims to Congress on January 8th.

Taken together, remarks the Chicago Tribune, the statements of war aims by Lloyd George and President Wilson are "an unescapable challenge to the Governments of the Central Powers and what perhaps is much more important to the consciences of their peoples." The New Yorker Staats-Zeitung says that "Germany's spokesmen have been insistent that their opponents in the war state definitely and concretely what they are fighting for. It is now the Central Powers' move and they should be equally willing to restate their war aims as unequivocally as the United States and Great Britain have stated theirs."

Throughout the length and breadth of America, the President's speech has been warmly applauded and endorsed. In the capitals of the countries allied with America in the war its reception has been no less cordial, as shown in the leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST for January 19th. This article covers four pages and gives the result of a searching examination of the newspaper press of the world, including Germany, upon America's war aims as outlined in the President's message. Incidentally, the war terms of America, Britain, and Russia are shown in three parallel columns, so that the reader can at once balance them.

U. S. LINER CHASED BY FOUR SUBS

A BRITISH PORT, JAN. 19—An American liner has just reached this port after encountering four German submarines, one of which is believed to have been damaged by fire from the ships guns.

The first submarine was sighted on a foggy night and the two crafts were so close together that they nearly collided.

The U-boat quickly submerged and the vessel put on more speed. She was apparently followed, however, for later on two more submarines were sighted, one on each side of the steamer.

The ship's guns opened a hot fire and the gunners believe that one of the submarines was struck.

The ship again escaped, but several hours later another submarine was sighted. Again the guns opened fire but whether or not the U-boat was hit is unknown. In the meantime a wireless call was sent out and destroyers came up at top speed. Search was made for the submarines while the liner continued on her way to port.

It was stated that great excitement prevailed upon the steamship while she was being threatened, but that there was no panic.

BUY MEAL IN LARGER LOTS SAYS HANLEY

Many people who are practising Hoover's plans of conserving food for the soldiers by substituting corn meal for flour in their daily menus are failing, thru ignorance, to also practise the thrift habit in this particular case.

According to T. J. Hanley, local miller, the average family is buying corn meal in five pound lots at seven cents a pound, whereas, if the meal is purchased in 25 pound lots, it costs the buyer only five and one half cents a pound. As the meal is thoroly kiln dried, he states that there is no danger of the meal spoiling, even tho it is kept on hand for some time before it is used.

a new plot had been discovered against the Bolsheviki government. Former Premier Kerensky was reported to be in Petrograd in disguise with several companions who had previously been member of the Russian cabinet.

The assembly did not convene until late in the afternoon, but rioting broke out hours before.

The first clash in which promiscuous shooting occurred, took place when Bolsheviki soldiers tried to destroy banners carried by the Society for the Defense of the constituent assembly—(an anti-Bolsheviki organization).

The demonstrators resisted and an order was given to fire into the crowd. Among the first to fall was M. Logivnoff, a member of the executive committee of the peasant's congress.

M. Tchernoff, former minister of agriculture was elected president of the assembly by a large majority.

"KEEP YOUR MOUTHS SHUT"

By Pauline Worth Hamlin of The Vigilantes.

Twice lately I have overheard people talking of things that would delight the ear of a German spy and yet I could tell from the rest of their conversation that they were loyal Americans.

Once on a suburban train I was sitting in front of two women who were knitting for the soldiers. They talked of their Red Cross, Canteen and War Relief work. They were without doubt true patriots yet one of them said to the other, in a lowered voice but perfectly audible, "My nephew, who is a captain at—told his mother—" and the information was something of which I could have made use had I been a spy.

Another time on the train I overheard two men talking. They told some news that an ambulance driver had brought home from France. This information, which seemed to them not to be important, struck me as being highly enlightening—too much so for German ears. And so I say to all loyal Americans, take unto yourselves Attorney General Gregory's advice to the Germans and when outside your own four walls, "Keep your mouths shut."

GERMANY IS MAKING DESPERATE EFFORTS TO ESTABLISH PEACE

COPENHAGEN, JAN. 19.—Germany, for the time being, is concentrating her efforts on a separate peace with Ukrania, according to information from Brest-Litovsk today.

It was stated the negotiations have proceeded to the point where territorial boundaries were discussed.

It was reported that the German envoys have pledged themselves to the following program:

1. Ukrania shall be given part of Poland, Galicia and Rumania.
2. Austria to annex part of Rumania and secure large acquisitions of territory in the Balkans.
3. The occupied portions of Russian soil to be cut up into either one or more German states under "German protection."

The Ukranian delegates at Brest-Litovsk have not held the same ideas on peace terms as the Bolsheviki, being more "imperialistic in their views."

A dispatch from Petrograd states the view is strong in some quarters that the Brest-Litovsk negotiations are moving towards a final rupture, as far as the Bolsheviki government is concerned. This situation has been brot about, it was said, by the refusal of the Germans to make any definite statement as to when the German troops would be removed from occupied Russian soil.

There is much speculation here over the attitude the constituent assembly will take towards the peace negotiations and also over the influence the disaffection in the Petrograd garrison may exert.

Labor Must Win War Says George

LONDON, JAN. 19—Labor must win the war.

That Premier Lloyd George showed that to be a fact in his notable speech yesterday, was the opinion heard on every hand today.

Labor leaders in their discussion took the view that the prime minister while addressing English working men, directly, was really appealing to the labor element in all of the allied countries. The cordial response given to the premier's appeal was a source of general gratification and was the dominant note in the comment in the press today.

For some time the government has been carrying on negotiations with representatives of the trade unions in view of the man-power question. Amalgamated Society of Engineers, one of the most powerful labor bodies in England has so far refused to take part in them, but it was reported today on good authority that Sir Auckland Geddes, minister of national service, has again appealed to them and the indications are that representatives of the engineers will consent to treat with the government. If there has been any element of the labor situation in any of the allied countries to cause anxiety, it can in no wise be compared to the actual unrest among the working men in the central empires.

In Austria workingmen driven to desperation by hunger and the imperialistic war aims forced on the Austrian government by Germany are in open revolt. Strikes are springing up and industrial plants are being attacked and damaged.

In Germany the labor element is held in the all powerful grip of the military heads, but is in sympathy with the iron discipline forced upon them, the German working men are getting extremely restive. It is reported from Holland that numerous strikes have taken place in German industrial centers, where the laborers were forced back into the factories at the point of the bayonet. Mysterious fires are occurring in German industrial cities and Von Hindenburg is being openly denounced.

Absolute chaos exists in the labor field in Russia. All industry and railway traffic are completely demoralized.

ment will be sought by the department of justice. It is said here the administration sees in the existing situation an opportunity once and for all, to make it plain to the people of the U. S. that the emergency war laws must be obeyed to the very letter and spirit.

The great controversial point looming up in the present crisis is the demand by labor which has been rendered idle thru no fault of its own for compensation. When the suspension order was under contemplation Dr. Garfield expressed the hope that employers would accept the burden of loss resulting from the shut down and would pay their men for all time lost.

Fuel Director Garfield have suggested that wage earners losing wages thru the closing down thru no fault of their own of their places of employment, be repaid out of the public treasury. A resolution to that effect is pending in the house.

Fearful Of Strikes.

Secretary of Labor Wilson today directed all of his representatives thruout the country to watch the situation very closely and to intervene everywhere it possible to prevent any coal strikes.

Reports reaching here today indicate that the relief anticipated as a result of the shut down is directly apparent. There is a more free movement of freight along the main arteries leading from the west to the Atlantic seaboard. Trains loaded with bunker coal for the ships now tied up in the harbors at Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Norfolk and Charleston are being given the right of way on every road, even over ordinary passenger trains. That body is none too well satisfied with the railroad situation—in fact the direct charge was made on the floor of the house yesterday that Dr. Garfield was being made the goat for Railway Director McAdoo—and it is believed that it will start an inquiry soon into the question of whether the roads have been laying down as the result of governmental control.

Fuel Director Harry A. Garfield today sent the following telegram to all state fuel administrators:

"Will you kindly give public expression of my appreciation of the public spirited and patriotic action of employers in the states who may determine to pay the wages of their employes during the suspension period specified in the regulation of January 17. They are bearing their share of sacrifice we are all called on to make common ground."

power. They declare the testimony before their committee has shown that much of the difficulty in securing coal is due to conflicting authority. Any action the committee decides to take it is a certainty that they will provide for greater government control over the coal mines. Many members of the committee are in favor of the government taking over the mines as the only real remedy. If such legislation is finally decided upon, it will include provisions which will place the coal control in the hands of a cabinet officer, either now holding office or one to be appointed.

The committee will not act finally until the full force of the present closing order is felt.

"We want to await developments and see the actual havoc that this order will work," said Senator James A. Reed, chairman of the committee today.
